PAIN AREA

Corporate Scenario

- Typically in large organizations the procurements are approved through a channel of approvals based on the DOA (Delegation of Authority)
- Most of the senior management are stretched on their schedules and are always on a move.
- As a result either their approvals take a lot of time or are delegated to personal assistants.

Quick FACTS!

- Typically in a bundle of licenses that an organization buys has at least 25-30% of the licenses only for the approvals in system.
- These licenses are for the management who typically access SAP for just approvals.

GENERATIONS OF WORKFLOW

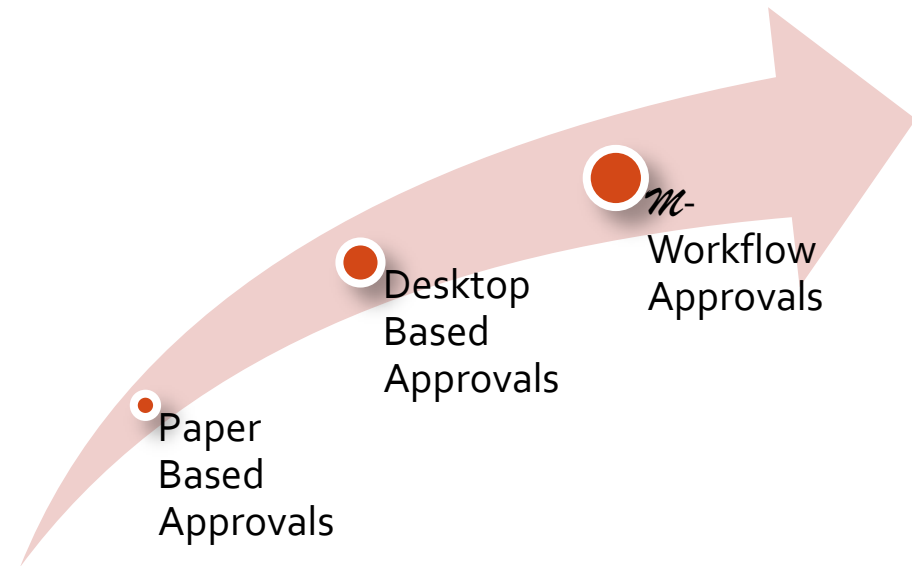

|| The Evolution!

Paper Based Approvals

- Approver needs to be available physically and sign the documents to approve.
- Go through various documents before approving

Desktop Based Approvals

- Approver needs to have a workstation to approve.
- Go through complicated screens to look for info before approving it.
